Friday, April 16, 2010
7:00am-4:30pm
Hilton Waikiki/ Prince Kuhio Hotel

Target Audience: physicians, administrators, pharmacists, social workers, nurses and all allied health professionals.

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and Policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint sponsorship of the American Medical Directors Association (AMDA) and University of Hawaii John A. Burns School of Medicine Department of Geriatric Medicine and the Hawaii Medical Directors Association. The American Medical Directors Association is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The American Medical Directors Association designates this educational activity for a maximum of 6 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

This seminar has been approved for a total of 6 credit hours toward certification as a Certified Medical Director (CMD). This program has been approved for up to 1.5 Clinical credits and up to 4.5 Management credits toward certification. The AMDA CMD program is administered by the American Medical Directors Certification Program. Each physician should claim only those hours of credit actually spent on the activity.
Welcome to the Long Term Care Conference 2010

Our educational program provides education and information about current and vital issues in the care of patients in the long-term care setting. This program includes information regarding culture change that reflects recent regulatory requirements emphasizing resident-centered care, strategies that improve outcomes for patients transferring between the hospital to nursing home in a cost effective manner, strategies for establishing successful MD/NP collaborative partnerships, implementation of risk management plans that anticipate, prevent, and effectively manage family expectations, implementation of the new advanced directive law called the Physicians Orders for Life Sustaining Treatment (POLST), improvement of access and provision of oral health in nursing home and dementia residents, planning effectively for infection outbreaks, and strategies for interdisciplinary management of dementia behaviors.

The varied learning formats will allow participants opportunities to learn new knowledge, acquire new ideas and strategies for quality improvement, and improve professional performance, and foster collaborative efforts.

Statement of Need

Long-term care patients will benefit through the provision of coordinated and interdisciplinary care that is more resident and family centered. These collaborative efforts should result in fewer adverse events, better crisis management, and improved patient well-being.

Course Objectives

• More effectively drive culture change towards more person-centered care in nursing facilities.
• Partner more effectively with hospitals and nursing homes in order to facilitate safe transfers and reduce hospital bounce-backs.
• Establish successful MD/NP collaborative partnerships practice in LTC.
• Implement risk management plans that anticipate, prevent, and effectively manage family expectations.
• Implement the POLST effectively for all of their residents.
• Improve access and provision of oral health in Nursing Facilities.
• Provide dementia care that maximizes quality of life and personhood.
• Plan effectively for infection outbreak in LTC.
• Identify how interdisciplinary team members can collaborate to enhance pharmacologic and nonpharmacologic strategies for behavior management.

Call for Posters

We would like to invite facilities, interdisciplinary teams, and individuals to submit posters to be displayed during the 2010 Long Term Care Conference on April 16, 2010. ALL health care professionals who work with older adults in long term care are eligible!

Purpose

We want to create the opportunity for providers to share ideas, network, and inspire one another in advancing the care of elders in long term care.

What kind of Posters?

Posters may include research projects, quality improvement projects, or a highlight of special or new programs, new models of care, case reports, etc.

Instructions for Submission

Email your title and 3-4 sentences briefly describing the content of the poster, anytime before March 1, 2010 to bledesma@hawaiinursinghomes.com
